

The first of these is the general principle of the law of the land
 which is the foundation of all our rights and liberties. It is the principle that every man is born free and equal in the eyes of the law. This principle is the basis of all our institutions and is the foundation of our government. It is the
 man has the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The second of these is the principle of the separation of powers. This principle is the foundation of our government and is the basis of all our institutions. It is the principle that the legislative, executive and judicial powers
 should be separated
 and exercised by different branches of the government. This principle is the basis
 of our government and
 is the foundation of
 all our institutions.

The third of these is the principle of the right of the people to alter or to abolish their government. This

The fourth of these is the
 the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects. This
