

Handwritten text at the top of the page, including the word "Clement" written in a large, decorative script.

Main body of handwritten text, featuring several lines of dense cursive script. On the left margin, there are vertical annotations: "Ad m. de f." and "parbulis".

Lower section of handwritten text, continuing the cursive script. It includes several lines of text that appear to be a list or a series of entries.

