

Handwritten text at the top of the page, including the word "Dilectissimi" and other cursive script.

Second section of handwritten text, appearing to be a continuation of the letter or document.

Third section of handwritten text, featuring a large, decorative flourish or signature.

Fourth section of handwritten text, continuing the main body of the document.

Fifth section of handwritten text, showing further cursive script.

Sixth section of handwritten text at the bottom of the page, including a final flourish.

