

Handwritten text in an archaic script, possibly a form of Old Malay or an early Indonesian script. The text is arranged in several lines, with some sections appearing to be organized into columns or groups, possibly representing a list or a structured document. The script is dense and cursive, with many characters that are difficult to decipher without specialized knowledge of the language. There are some large, stylized characters that could be part of a signature or a specific marker. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper with some ink bleed-through from the reverse side.
