

In nomine domini Amen
171

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a Latin document or manuscript. The text is dense and covers most of the page, with some lines appearing to be crossed out or heavily faded. The script is characteristic of the 16th or 17th century.

