

Handwritten text in a dense, cursive script, likely a legal or administrative document. The text is heavily obscured by large, irregular white patches, suggesting significant damage or erasure. The script is dark and fills most of the page, with some legible fragments at the top and bottom.

