

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a legal or administrative document. The text is dense and covers most of the page, with some large decorative initials. The script is characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century. The document appears to be a record or a set of regulations, given the formal nature of the language and the presence of what might be a signature or official seal at the bottom.

