

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly a list or account book, with columns of entries and some red markings on the right side.

