

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely a Latin manuscript. The text is arranged in approximately 25 horizontal lines. It begins with a large initial 'E' and contains various words and phrases, some of which are partially obscured by ink bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The script is dense and characteristic of the late Middle Ages.

Decorative flourishes and initials at the bottom of the page. On the left, there is a large, stylized initial 'S' or 'S' with long, sweeping flourishes extending downwards. To its right, there is another large, stylized initial 'S' or 'S' with similar flourishes. The word 'ficus' is written in a smaller, more legible script between these two large initials. The entire section is enclosed within a simple horizontal line.
