

The first thing I did was to go to the office and see what was going on. I found everything in a state of confusion. The papers were all over the place and nobody seemed to know what they were doing. I tried to get a sense of the situation but it was impossible. The only thing I could do was to try and get some order out of the chaos. I started by looking at the accounts and trying to see where the money was going. I found that it was being spent on things that were not necessary. I was angry
 but I knew I had to do something. I called the manager and told him what I had found.
 He was surprised but he agreed to let me look into it. I spent the next few days
 going through the books and finding out what was going on. I was determined to get to the bottom of it. I found that there was a lot of waste and that the money was being used in a very inefficient
 way. I was disappointed
 but I knew I had to do something. I wrote a report and gave it to the manager. He was impressed and he decided to make some changes. I was glad to hear that and I knew I had done
 my job. I was tired
 but I was satisfied.
 I had made a difference and I was proud of what I had achieved.