

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely Spanish or Portuguese. The text is arranged in several lines across the top half of the page. It appears to be a letter or a formal document, possibly containing names and dates, though the handwriting is very faded and difficult to decipher. Some words are faintly visible, such as "fue" and "yo", suggesting a personal or legal context. The ink is light and the paper shows signs of age and wear.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, continuing from the top half of the page. This section contains more lines of text, which are also very faint and difficult to read. The script is consistent with the one seen above. The text seems to be a continuation of the same document or letter. The overall appearance is that of an old, well-used manuscript or document.