

1771

Handwritten text in cursive script, likely a letter or document, written on aged, yellowed paper. The text is mirrored across the fold, suggesting it was written on the reverse side. The ink is dark and the handwriting is fluid and characteristic of the 18th century.

