

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or French, covering the upper and middle portions of the page. The text is dense and appears to be a legal or administrative document, possibly a charter or a record of a transaction. It includes various names, titles, and phrases, some of which are underlined or written in a larger hand. The script is cursive and somewhat difficult to decipher due to its age and the way it is written.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or French, covering the lower portion of the page. This section continues the text from the upper part, with similar dense handwriting and some underlining. The text appears to be a continuation of the same document, possibly detailing further provisions or a signature block. The script is consistent with the upper portion, showing a high level of literacy and administrative skill.

