

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, written in a cursive script. The text is partially obscured by a large, decorative flourish that extends downwards and to the left.

