

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The script is dense and cursive, with some words appearing to be "m. lec b", "m. lec", and "m. lec". The text is arranged in several lines, some of which are crossed out or heavily scribbled over.

