

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a list or account, with several lines of text and horizontal lines separating sections. The text is difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and fading.

Vertical handwritten text along the right edge of the page, likely a marginal note or a list of items.

