

Handwritten text in a ledger format, likely from a 17th-century manuscript. The text is written in a cursive script and is organized into columns. The entries are as follows:

1735	—	Handwritten text
1736	—	Handwritten text
1737	—	Handwritten text
1738	—	Handwritten text
1739	—	Handwritten text
1740	—	Handwritten text

The text is mirrored across the page, suggesting it is bleed-through from the reverse side. There is a small, dark, irregular mark on the left edge of the page, approximately halfway down.

