

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Gothic or Carolingian minuscule, on a heavily damaged and stained parchment fragment. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words appearing to be in red ink (rubrics). The parchment is severely torn and discolored, with large areas missing, particularly on the left and right sides.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, continuing from the first block. The script is dense and cursive, with some larger initials. The parchment is heavily stained and shows significant wear and tear.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, continuing from the previous blocks. The text is written in a dark ink on a brown, stained parchment background. The script is consistent with the previous sections.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, continuing from the previous blocks. The text is written in a dark ink on a brown, stained parchment background. The script is consistent with the previous sections.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, continuing from the previous blocks. The text is written in a dark ink on a brown, stained parchment background. The script is consistent with the previous sections.

