

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Latin or French, with a large initial 'S' and a vertical line. The text is written in a cursive hand with some decorative flourishes. The right side of the page contains a separate column of text, including the words 'ut hoc y' and 'll dicit h'.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Latin or French, located below the first section. It appears to be a continuation or a separate entry.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Latin or French, featuring a large, ornate initial 'S'.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Latin or French, located below the second section.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Latin or French, with a large initial 'A' and a vertical line. The text is written in a cursive hand with some decorative flourishes.

