

Handwritten Latin text in a dense, cursive script, likely a medieval manuscript. The text is arranged in two columns and contains numerous names, titles, and phrases, including "Venerabilis pater", "Magister", "Reverendissimus", and "Illustrius". The script is highly stylized and characteristic of the late Middle Ages. The parchment shows signs of age, including discoloration and some wear at the bottom edge.