

Handwritten text in a dense, cursive script, likely a legal or administrative document. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, yellowish paper. It contains several lines of text, some of which appear to be headings or specific clauses, such as 'Et in nomine domini Amen' and 'Mandatum'. The script is highly stylized and difficult to decipher without specialized knowledge of the language and dialect used. There are some larger, possibly decorative or significant words like 'Mandatum' and 'Procurator' visible. The text ends with a signature or name, possibly 'Hans' or similar, followed by some additional notes or a date.
