

Faint, illegible handwritten text in a historical script, possibly from the 16th or 17th century. The text is written in a cursive hand and is mostly obscured by fading and bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

Another section of faint, illegible handwritten text, continuing the narrative or record. Like the first section, it is difficult to decipher due to its age and the quality of the manuscript.

