

Handwritten text in cursive script, possibly a signature or title, located in the upper central portion of the document. The text is faint and partially obscured by the texture of the aged paper.

