

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter, covering the upper half of the page. The text is dense and difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and some fading.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter, covering the lower half of the page. The text is dense and difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and some fading.

