

Handwritten text at the top of the page, including the word "Vandal" on the left and "Lugan" on the right. The script is dense and cursive.

Handwritten text in the middle section, featuring a large, stylized signature or name that appears to be "Grama".

A decorative flourish or separator line with the word "Lumpo" written in the center.

A block of handwritten text below the flourish, starting with "Indes by de Embre..." and containing several lines of dense script.

Two smaller handwritten phrases or signatures, one on the left and one on the right, positioned below the main text block.

A large section of handwritten text at the bottom, including the word "Lumpo" on the right side and a large, decorative flourish at the end.

Final lines of handwritten text at the very bottom of the page, including a signature on the right.

