

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin, covering the upper half of the page. The text is dense and includes several lines of script. A large, ornate initial 'S' is visible in the center, marking the beginning of a new section. The text appears to be a continuation from the previous page, as indicated by the '900' in the left margin.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin, covering the lower half of the page. The text is dense and includes several lines of script. A large, ornate initial 'S' is visible in the center, marking the beginning of a new section. The text appears to be a continuation from the previous page, as indicated by the '900' in the left margin.

