

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly stained paper. It appears to be a formal or legal document, possibly a contract or a record of a transaction. The handwriting is dense and somewhat difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the age of the document. There are several lines of text, some of which are underlined or have other markings. The text is written in a language that appears to be German or Dutch, based on the characters and the structure of the words. The document is signed at the bottom with a large, stylized signature.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a signature or a date. The text is written in the same cursive script as the main body of the document. It is located at the bottom left of the page, below the main body of text. The handwriting is somewhat faded and the ink is lighter than the rest of the document.
