

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The script is cursive and difficult to decipher due to fading and the paper's texture.

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The script is cursive and difficult to decipher due to fading and the paper's texture.

