

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is dense and covers most of the page, with some lines appearing to be crossed out or heavily scribbled over. The script is characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly yellowed paper. The handwriting is very fluid and connected, with many loops and flourishes. There are several large, stylized initials or signatures interspersed throughout the text, particularly towards the bottom. The overall appearance is that of a well-used, possibly official, document.

Handwritten signature or name, possibly "Joan de..." or similar, located in the bottom right corner of the page.
