

I have been thinking much of late of the many things that I have done in this world, and how they have all passed away like a dream. I have seen many people who were once very rich and powerful, but who are now poor and forgotten.
 I have seen many who were once very young and full of life, but who are now old and feeble. I have seen many who were once very happy, but who are now sad and lonely. I have seen many who were once very brave, but who are now cowardly and afraid. I have seen many who were once very kind, but who are now cruel and unkind. I have seen many who were once very good, but who are now bad and wicked. I have seen many who were once very wise, but
 who are now foolish and ignorant. I have seen many who were once very strong, but who are now weak and feeble. I have seen many who were once very beautiful, but who are now ugly and deformed. I have seen many who were once very young, but who are now old and decrepit. I have seen many who were once very healthy, but who are now sick and dying. I have seen many
