

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely from a 16th-century manuscript. The text is dense and covers most of the page. It appears to be a list or a series of entries, possibly names or titles, written in a dark ink on aged paper. The handwriting is somewhat slanted and compact, characteristic of the time. There are some larger, bolder words interspersed throughout the smaller text.

Marginalia on the left side of the page, including the words "Dix", "Campana", and "El". These words are written in a different, slightly more formal cursive style than the main text and appear to be annotations or corrections.

