

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or Old French, covering the majority of the page. The text is dense and difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and some fading.

