

175
131

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is heavily faded and difficult to decipher, but appears to be organized into several lines or paragraphs. Some words are more legible than others, such as "I have" and "I am".

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a signature or a closing line. It is also very faded and difficult to read.

