

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The script is cursive and difficult to decipher due to fading and the age of the paper.

Second block of handwritten text, continuing the bleed-through from the reverse side. The ink is very light and the lines are faint.

Third block of handwritten text, showing some more legible characters but still heavily faded.

Fourth block of handwritten text, appearing as a list or series of entries. Some words are partially recognizable, such as "C... .." and "The ... ..".

Fifth block of handwritten text, consisting of a few lines of very faint script.

Sixth block of handwritten text, appearing as a single line of very faint script.

Seventh block of handwritten text, appearing as a single line of very faint script.

Eighth block of handwritten text, appearing as a single line of very faint script.

Ninth block of handwritten text, appearing as a single line of very faint script.

