

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper with significant damage and tear marks. The script is dense and fills most of the page, though some words are obscured by the paper's condition. The text appears to be a formal or legal document, possibly a contract or a letter of agreement, given the use of words like "vendit" (sells) and "procurator" (procurator).

Polycarpus
1511

