The image shows a page from an old manuscript with three musical staves. The top staff contains handwritten text in a Gothic script. Below the text, there is a large, ornate block of music. This block features a central crown-like symbol. Below the crown, the words "videtur" and "eas" are written in a decorative, calligraphic font. The music is written on three staves, with various notes and clefs. The paper is aged and shows signs of wear, including stains and a large, faint watermark or impression in the lower half of the page.
