

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mirrored and difficult to decipher due to the bleed-through effect. It appears to be a formal document or letter, possibly containing names and titles.

