

Faint, illegible handwriting in a cursive script, likely from the 18th or 19th century. The text is mostly obscured by a large rectangular patch in the center of the page.

A large rectangular area in the center of the page, possibly a redaction or a large stain, containing very faint and illegible handwriting. The text is mostly obscured by this area.

