

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly Latin or a historical European language. The text is written on aged, stained paper and is partially obscured by a large, dark, circular ink blot or smudge in the center. The visible text includes several lines of script, with some words appearing to be 'Sicut', 'et', 'in', and 'per'. The handwriting is dense and somewhat difficult to decipher due to the ink quality and the blot.

Below the main block of text, there are several horizontal lines of text, which appear to be crossed out or heavily scribbled over with dark ink. The remaining legible fragments are sparse and difficult to read.

