

Monro. On the 20th day of January 1770, I, James DeCarre, Esq; of New Haven, Connecticut, do hereby declare that I have received from my son, John DeCarre, of New Haven, a sum of money equal to the sum of one hundred and twenty dollars, which I have paid him for his services as a student in my law office, and that he has now no further claim upon me for any sum of money.
