

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, written in a cursive script.

Large, highly stylized signature or set of initials in the upper middle section of the page.

Handwritten text below the signature, possibly a name or a specific reference.

Main body of handwritten text, appearing as several lines of cursive script, though much of it is faint and difficult to decipher.

