

Faint handwritten notes in the left margin, partially obscured and illegible.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, appearing to be a religious or historical document. The text is dense and fills most of the page. It begins with "Ergo guntus" and contains various Latin phrases and names. A large, ornate initial is visible on the left side of the main text block.

