

Don't regard it as a common thing in the Kingdom of Castile that the King should be so friendly to the people as he is.

The King's grace is so abundant that it is not possible to express it in words. The King is so generous that he gives his own money to the poor. The King is so merciful that he forgives the sins of his subjects. The King is so wise that he knows what is best for his people. The King is so brave that he is always ready to fight for his country.
