

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or document, written on aged, yellowed paper. The text is mostly illegible due to fading and bleed-through from the reverse side.

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or a name, written in a cursive script. The text is partially obscured by the emblem above it and is difficult to decipher.

