

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is faint and difficult to decipher but appears to be organized into several lines.

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or a specific name, located in the middle-left section of the page.

A single, dark, vertical handwritten mark or stroke located near the bottom center of the page.

