

Main body of the document consisting of approximately 15 lines of handwritten text in a cursive script, which is mostly illegible due to fading and bleed-through from the reverse side.

Bottom section of the document containing several distinct signatures and initials, including a large, ornate signature on the right side and several smaller ones on the left and center.

