

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or Dutch. The text is dense and spans most of the page. It appears to be a legal or administrative document, possibly a charter or a record of a transaction. The script is cursive and somewhat difficult to decipher due to its age and the way it is written. There are some larger, more decorative initials or flourishes interspersed within the text.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a signature or a concluding statement. It is written in the same medieval script as the main body of text. The lines are somewhat irregular and there are some large, stylized letters that might be part of a signature or a specific title.

Large, stylized signature or seal at the bottom of the page. It consists of several overlapping loops and flourishes, characteristic of medieval calligraphy. The signature is written in a dark ink and is quite prominent.

