

Handwritten text in Gothic script, likely a legal or administrative document. The text is dense and covers most of the page, with some lines appearing to be crossed out or heavily faded. The script is highly stylized and difficult to decipher without specialized knowledge.

