

Handwritten text in a historical script, possibly a legal document or a record of land grants. The text is arranged in approximately 25 lines, starting with a large decorative initial 'D' at the top. The script is dense and difficult to decipher due to its cursive nature and some fading. The document appears to be a formal record, possibly related to the Reconquista or the establishment of settlements in the Iberian Peninsula. The text includes names of individuals and locations, such as 'D. Fernando' and 'D. Alonso', and mentions of land parcels and their boundaries. The document is written on aged, slightly stained paper with some diagonal lines visible in the upper portion, possibly from a binding or a watermark.
