

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a medieval manuscript. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly stained paper. It appears to be a legal or administrative document, possibly a charter or a record of a court case. The script is dense and fills most of the page. There are some large initial letters, such as 'C' and 'D', which are more prominent than the rest of the text. The text is written in a way that is characteristic of the late Middle Ages, with a focus on clarity and legibility, though some words are difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the age of the document.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, continuing from the previous block. This section also contains several large initial letters, including 'C' and 'D'. The text is dense and fills most of the page. It appears to be a legal or administrative document, possibly a charter or a record of a court case. The script is dense and fills most of the page. There are some large initial letters, such as 'C' and 'D', which are more prominent than the rest of the text. The text is written in a way that is characteristic of the late Middle Ages, with a focus on clarity and legibility, though some words are difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the age of the document.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a signature or a date. It includes a large, stylized initial letter, possibly 'C' or 'D', followed by some text that is difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the age of the document.

